

Greta Rusteikaite Junior Support Consultant

Last year, I got to represent 4PS at a big industry event in Hamburg. This was a great experience for me, especially as a young woman starting out in the tech world. From my first day at 4PS, I felt that 4PS really cared about helping me grow and learn.

They make sure everyone gets the help and training they need, no matter how new or experienced they are. They listen to what we have to say and make sure we feel like we're part of the team. This is super important for someone like me as I am developing my career because it makes me feel valued and confident.

At 4PS, it's not just about the job – it's about the people. They celebrate everyone and make sure we all feel important. For a young woman in tech, this kind of support is amazing. I'm really glad to be part of 4PS.
